

ABOUT THE ASSOCIATION

The Dry Stone Walling Association of Great Britain was formed in 1968.

Prior to that date a number of more local walling associations existed and several of these are now Branches of the national body.

One of the objectives of the Association is to encourage the art of Dry Stone Walling and these courses are mainly designed for amateurs and those with little or no previous experience.

ABOUT THE COURSE

During the course the participants will be given the opportunity to practise in all basic skills involved in stripping down and rebuilding a Dry Stone Dyke (this is the term used in Scotland to describe a mortarless wall). The tasks will be easily achieved by a person of reasonable fitness.

By the end of the course they will have completely rebuilt a section of dyke and should be able to repair gaps in walls and to construct short sections of new or rebuilt dyke after adequate practice.

The Course will commence at 09.00am and finish about 3.30pm each day.

THE INSTRUCTORS

These are professional dykers from Scotland, holding DSWA Craftsman Certificates, who are trained instructors of the DSWA as well as being highly skilled in the art of Dry Stone Walling. They have conducted training courses and demonstrations for a number of organisations such as the Countryside Commission, Agricultural Training Board etc. As well as being First Class Craftsmen, they are also able to instil great interest and enthusiasm in their Trainees.

CLOTHING AND EQUIPMENT

Participants should bring with them good working clothes, including wet weather gear, protective footwear, gloves and goggles. Any other required tools will be provided.

Lunch will be provided – see reverse of application form.

Toilet facilities are nearby.

Hammers, gloves and goggles will be available for purchase at the venue.

The Course will proceed even if it rains.
